Today we're putting the spotlight on craveable dishes like bouillabaisse, clafoutis and ficelle sandwiches — and it's not just because Bastille Day is around the corner. French cuisine is on fire around LA right now. From classic dishes like crepes to contemporary spins on pate, here are 12 favorite French dishes and where to find them.

Bouillabaisse at Church & State

With chef Tony Ensault at the helm, this Arts District bistro has amped up its game considerably. The former Patina (and French-born) chef has put his stamp on dishes like classic bouillabaisse, the wonderfully light seafood stew.
